This July the NCACWG is pleased to present Guest Speaker Gabrielle Hovendon!

Gabrielle Hovendon will be presenting “Beginnings” at the North Country Arts Council Writers’ Guild on Tuesday, August 17th, 2010. “Beginnings” is a Writers’ Workshop that will focus on creative and fun exercises designed to jumpstart writing, using examples from literature. The workshop will be an action writing experience, supported by examples from literature and ideas about writing gleaned from master authors.

Gabrielle Hovendon, a rising senior in Fordham University’s honor program, will receive her Bachelors of Arts in English with a concentration in creative writing in December. She plans to pursue a Masters in Fine Arts in creative writing (prose) the following fall and then teach creative writing at the university level. Gabrielle is currently working as an intern at the Watertown Daily Times, where she has written features as an intern for the last two summers, and completing her honors thesis in creative writing.

Gabrielle has studied under various published authors and participated in writing workshops at Fordham University, Oxford University, and Kenyon College. She has also been published in campus magazines and literary supplements at both Fordham University and Oxford University. Gabrielle has been a winner or finalist in several short story contests and most recently judged entries in the Writers Advice Annual Flash Fiction Contest, which she won in 2009.
